1. Upon the orders of Marshal Rokossowski, a political academy for the army [] and a technical college for the army [] have recently been established. These new high military schools are to prepare the high ranking officers of the Polish Armed Forces technically and politically according to the doctrines of Marx and Lenin. The political academy will be directed by the undersecretary of the Ministry of National Defense who is concerned with political affairs.
2. Polish officers who are to serve abroad as military attaches will first have to attend a training course at the Lenin Academy in Moscow. Officers to be assigned to Polish General Headquarters are sent to the Voroshilov Academy, USSR; those who will be promoted to high-level artillery officers are sent to a course at the Dzerzhinskiy Academy; and future officers of the Polish Air Force undergo training at the Zhukovskiy Academy in the USSR.
